

Education and networking to help you positively impact the bottom line!

TESTIMONIALS:

On Membership

In 1999, the vice-president of my company's claims division suggested I join a new organization called NASP. The purpose (of joining) was to find out from other members if there were better ways to perform the subrogation functions and to compare our performance with other insurance companies. Those objectives were quickly met because of the quality, experience, professionalism and diversity of the NASP members I met and conversed with in the first few months of my membership and the existence of NASP.

On the Annual Conference

Here the educational opportunities are awesome!!! The whole thing stimulates thought and exchange of ideas and opinions with all the groups in the subro world. It's great to see people disagree, but respect each other's ideas and opinions. The Woodstock of Insurance... three days of fun and subro.

You are great...I joined NASP just days ago...put out my first request for help, and immediately received more good info than several hours of surfing and following bad leads would have netted.

Membership

The National Association of Subrogation Professionals (NASP) is the largest association for subrogation professionals in the world. Members include insurance claims professionals, attorneys, experts, collectors and many others from a variety of professions all working towards the same goal: increasing the stature and knowledge of those working in the subrogation industry.

NASP was formed in November 1998 during an unprecedented meeting of subrogation professionals in Phoenix, Arizona. The need for a formalized means of communicating, networking and working together to increase collections was expressed by all in attendance.

The solution was NASP. Since its inception in 1998, NASP has continued to grow and improve. By 2007, the Association exceeded 2,300 members and today continues to enjoy vigorous growth in membership and in the quantity and quality of programs and benefits available to members.

Increasing the stature and knowledge of individuals working in the subrogation industry.

NASP GOALS

- ▶ To provide educational opportunities and resources for its members to enhance their skills, knowledge and professionalism.
- ▶ To provide a formalized means of sharing ideas and information with others in subrogation.
- ▶ To increase the stature of the subrogation field to attract and retain the best and brightest individuals.
- ▶ To be the public voice and advocate for the subrogation industry.

NASP MISSION

The NASP mission is to enhance the stature and effectiveness of subrogation and recovery professionals through education, training and the exchange of information.

ANNUAL CONFERENCE

The NASP Conference continues to be the largest educational gathering of subrogation professionals in the world, with many different educational sessions and opportunities to network, speak and exhibit. Members receive a discount on conference registration.

THE NASP LISTSERV EMAIL LIST

One of the most popular benefits, this user-friendly email forum allows you to share information with other members, get answers quickly for your toughest questions and find attorneys and service providers for all of your subrogation needs.

THE SUBROGATOR® MAGAZINE

A great resource for any subrogation professional, this award-winning magazine, only available to NASP members, contains interesting and useful articles on a variety of subrogation topics. There are also opportunities to have your own article published or to place an advertisement for your company.

THE NASP WEBSITE

Available at www.subrogation.org, the members-only section of the website contains an articles database, a member directory, the Subrogation Recovery Guide, a bulletin board, job postings, a library of proposed anti-subrogation legislation activity and many other important subrogation resources.

CHAPTER MEETINGS

The demand for continuing education among subrogation professionals is so intense that NASP now has 30 active chapters spread across seven U.S. regions, each of which holds several meetings a year. In addition, we also have recently developed an international region with chapters in Canada and the U.K. These educational meetings include presentations by your colleagues as well as a great opportunity for networking.

BENCHMARKING STUDIES

NASP recognizes the need for companies to examine their subrogation practices, philosophies and recoveries against their peers in the industry. Past studies have included Automobile Subrogation, Workers' Compensation Subrogation and Property Subrogation, and each study includes a Best Practices section. The studies are available for purchase through the NASP office.

CERTIFIED SUBROGATION RECOVERY PROFESSIONAL (CSR®) Designation

The CSR designation is the professional designation for subrogation professionals. It is a statement that those possessing the designation have met stringent academic and experience requirements and have agreed to be bound by the Code of Professional Ethics of the CSR program. The course text, Subrogation Recovery: Principles and Practices, is the most comprehensive work on subrogation available and is only available through the NASP CSR program. Matriculate now, receive your Course Text and Study Guide and prepare to take the exam.

SUBRO COLLEGE™

Subro College™ was created by NASP to focus on the basic principles of subrogation. The seven part, multi-line curriculum covers topics an individual must understand to become knowledgeable and effective in the subrogation arena. The courses are designed for those who are relatively new to the field of insurance and subrogation. Classes will broaden the knowledge of the participants by providing them information and tools necessary as they investigate, evaluate, negotiate and present subrogation demands. Each class is approximately 60 minutes in length and may be presented in a combined format or as an individual class.

Subro College™ is offered at the annual conference and is also available for seminars in your office.
